end of the ice matter has not yet been given out. City Clerk Scripture says he knows nothing about it except that the sum of $200 has been paid in to the city by Mr. Robinson, who had the handling of the city ice, but he does not know how much fee has been taken from the houses. Of course, until the matter of the bonding company is settled the only way the ice can be got to the people is at present, letting whoever will take it from the houses on paying the price.

Last year there was some qui Last year there was some question raised as to whether the method of figuring on the ice question was correct, and a motion was introduced at the city meeting last winter looking toward a separate ice account, so that the cifizens could tell at the end of this summer just how much the ice cost and thus weigh the benefits of municipal ice. The present complication brings out the fact that figures are not available—at least at present—by which any estimates may be made.

As one man puts it, "There is too much politics in the city ice, and the warm weather is bringing it out."
